

But should the views presented by the committee, not be sustained by the General Assembly, they would respectfully recommend, that the privilege reserved to the State of taking the whole number of shares set apart for her, under the act establishing the Bank aforesaid, be forthwith relinquished by law—to the end, that that portion of the capital of the Bank, which is now merely nominal, may be taken by individual citizens of the State; and thereby become real and effective.

All which is submitted.